Cheaper than a car, easier to park and whole lot more fun, a scooter can be your ticket to transportation freedom. • Riva scooters, available in three different models, are fun to ride and simple to operate, thanks to features like automatic transmissions, electric start, fully enclosed, no-maintenance drive systems and wind-cutting leg shields. • The smallest, most economical Riva is the Razz. Weighing only 115 pounds, it's the lightest scooter in the marketplace—one of the reasons that Razz delivers well over 100 miles per gallon. It also has a single-speed transmission, a low seat height, a wide front apron that helps provide weather protection and roomy floorboards. • The next step up in scooters is the Riva Jog, a slightly more powerful scooter with a 50cc-class two-stroke engine. Upgrades include a variable ratio V-Belt transmission—just twist the throttle and go—because the Jog transmission automatically adjusts for speed and throttle setting. It even has an enclosed, no-maintenance drive system for clean, quiet operation. In addition to electric starting, the Jog also has an automatic choke—so even if you're late for school, you can't blame the Jog, because it's always ready to go. Rugged, but still friendly, Jog has a large seat and a comfortable floorboard. There's even a rear luggage rack and a glove box. • Want the biggest scooter in the Riva line-up? Get a Riva 125, the commuter scooter that's capable of maintaining freeway speeds or taking a passenger out for a ride. The Riva 125 has bottom link front suspension and dual rear shocks to keep the ride smooth. Its four-stroke engine keeps cool with an electric cooling fan, located inside enclosed body panels so your ride is nice and quiet. Other cool touches on the Riva 125 are dual helmet locks, a cargo rack, and a locking storage bin. • The Razz, Jog and Riva 125. They're inexpensive to buy, fun to use, and when it comes to daily fuel costs, they're about as close as you can get to a free ride.

There are few joys in life equal to the free-spirited thrill and experience of motorcycling. And that's why it's important for all of us to do our part as responsible riders. By following logical common-sense rules, we can maintain season after season of unparalleled enjoyment of our sport. Always remember to review your Yamaha Motorcycle Owner's Manual before you ride. Before each ride, take time to check all your equipment. Always wear an approved helmet, eye protection, long-sleeved shirt, long trousers, gloves and boots. Always be sure your bike is in first-class condition before riding. Keep it well-maintained and always outfitted in accordance with state and local laws. Provide parental supervision when a motorcycle is being operated by a minor. Every motorcycle rider should be aware of the limits of his or her skills, experience and abilities and ride accordingly. Beginners should be extremely cautious and allow extra time and distance for maneuvering and braking. All riders should ride well within the limits of their abilities, never beyond them. Always ride in a responsible manner, respecting the environment as well as all state and local laws. Ride responsibly, and remember, motorcycle riders, as well as all motorists, must practice defensive driving. Do not drink and ride. It is illegal and dangerous.
